Jackson. The film follows a teenage intelligence agent (Steinfeld) longing for a normal adolescence who disappears and enrolls as an exchange student in suburban American high school. He quickly learns that surviving the treacherous waters of being a teenager is harder than global espionage. The film received a digital release through DirecTV Cinema on April 30, 2015, and limited release in theaters A24 and video-on-demand on May 29, 2015. The plot of Young Female Orphans at the government-run Prescott Academy is trained to become murderers. Their number one rule, taught by Coach Hardman, is no attachments. Agent 83's top skills are tied to Agent 84. 83 is a curious world, learning about teen culture through magazines and watching Mean Girls and Beverly Hills, 90210. Hardman appoints orphans to catch arms dealer Victoria Knox. Undercover in Chechnya, 83, is one of those caught and brought before Knox. He hurt himself and Knox on hardman's passing plane, but 83 drops into the river when Knox is apprehended, causing Hardman to disappear. 83 takes the name Megan and lives with the Larson family. Mrs. Larson is kind, son Parker instantly likes Megan, but daughter Liz is cold and distant. Megan has been mocked at school, leaving both Megan and Liz embarrassed. Megan soon befriends a geeky boy named Roger. Megan is interested in Cash, hacking the school system to make her her biology lab partner. Two mean girls are persuading Megan to try out as the school mascot. When kids at a rival school follow traditions and try to rob mascot Megan of the game, she fights them off, a video of her actions going viral. It earns him popularity, while annoying Liz. Megan is apprehended by a Prescott agent and brought to Hardman. He assumes that he works with his enemies and says his henchman, Pedro, tortures Megan. He injects her with a truth serum and realizes she's honest when she says she wanted to enjoy a normal life outside the Academy. Hardman's going to let him go with a warning. Megan and Liz both attend a big party at home in school class with a clown, Gooch. Megan hangs out with Cash, while Liz gets drunk with Gooch, learning that her real name is Bernard. To Megan's surprise, 84 is there, calling herself Heather. Megan thinks Hardman sent Heather to shadow her, but Heather has her plans going after Cash to annoy Megan. Megan finally wins Cash's attention and gets asked about her homecoming dance. Megan looks the bus the next morning, and is surprised to see that Hardman is driving, only to pass to warn Megan that Knox has escaped from the Academy. Liz drives Megan to school, but they're being followed by a masked assassin. Megan steers them away from danger while telling Liz her secret. Megan runs two cars, but the assassin escapes. Megan recognizes the smell of Ke$ha perfume, identifying Heather. At the homecoming dance, Megan realizes that Money is boring and leaves her. He thinks Roger's date is Heather, who's provoking the fight. Their fight carousels through the hallways and the school kitchen. Heather reveals she joined Knox's operation to get a chance to kill Megan. Liz sneaks up on Heather and stabs her in the leg with a corn dog. The girls are returning home to find out that Knox and some of the models have taken Parker and Mrs. Larson. Megan fights fools, but Liz gets caught as well. Knox reveals she was Prescott's agent 1, but she left and turned against them. Hardman shows up with reinforcements and beats Knox and her fools. Megan uses Prescott helicopters to stop Roger, who is flying home with his family. He tells Roger his true feelings for him, and they kiss. In the middle of the scene, Heather is in the car with one of Knox's ex-minions. She stares at a picture of Megan on a tablet and orders her to know where she's going to college. Starring Hailee Steinfeld as Megan Walsh Madeleine Stack as Megan (age 8) Sophie Turner as Heather Eva G. Cooper as Heather (8-year-old) Jessica Alba as Victoria Knox, Samuel L. [6] on July 7, 2014, it was announced that Mateo Messina will be the film's music point. [8] The film originally received an R rating from the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA), but the filmmakers turned to a PG-13 rating without having to cut or edit the scenes. The film is now rated PG-13 for appealing sexual material, teen drinking, language, drug references and some action violence. The film debuts the original song You Don't Know Me, performed by Rumor Mill with Chetti, which plays over the opening title of the series. On February 25, 2015, the film A24 and DirecTV were released in theaters and scheduled for release on demand. [9] The film was released in DirecTV Cinema on 30 April 2015. [10] The film was released through limited release and review On 29 May 2015 [ 11] The film was released in the UNITED KINGDOM on 28. [14] Critical response to rotten tomatoes, the film has a 26% approval rating and an average rating of 4.26/10 based on 35 reviews. In metacritic, the average score for a movie is 44 out of 100, based on 10 critics, indicating mixed or average reviews. [16] Rebecca Keegan of the Los Angeles Times gave the film a bad insight, commenting that: 'Hardly lethal is clearly confused about her intended audience, starting with the title of the ilumkile, on a punading label that selects and photographs models to emphasize their youth. [17] Justin Lowe of The Hollywood Reporter gave the film a more positive look, calling it fun enough for teen action comedy. [1] Bill Goodykoontz of the Arizona Republic gave the film a mixed look, saying that: Hardly Lethal has a few laughs, and probably serves nicely as the movie can land in a few minutes when it shows up on cable. But it slips into rote generic-teen-comedy mode too soon to be anything more. [18] Home Media Film was released on DVD[19] and Blu-ray[20] on August 4, 2015 by Lionsgate Home Entertainment. Both contained ultraviolet digital copy of the film. Features include deleted scenes, a behind-the-scenes featurette titled Back to School: On Set with Barely Lethal and audio commentary director Kyle Newman and actors Dove Cameron and Thomas Mann.
